Since the idea of the consumption of cotton in too war may be had from the fact that 1,000 tons a day are required to supply the German and Austrian armies with powder.

RECORD PRICES

That the raising of pure bred stock is a money maker was exemplified in Calgary this past week at the auction sale of bulls. Pym Bros., of Mirror, who had eight head of Herefords realized on an average $288.25 for bulls coming two years old, the best bull bringing $340.00.

Pym Bros. have an excellent herd of purebred Herefords on their ranch several miles from Mirror, and it is quite evident from the prices paid at the sale that there is a growing demand for this breed of cattle. The animals sold were offered by the owners a month ago for $175.00.

We congratulate Pym Bros. on their success and trust that their efforts will meet with greater success in the future.

The Edmonton Daily Bulletin of yesterday (Thursday) had the following to say in reference to the sale:

The sale of pure bred bulls came to an end tonight and a total of $73,570 changed hands as a result of the sale. This is a record for any sale though the number of animals was smaller this year than last, which goes to show that they of higher grade than heretofore. One hundred and forty nine bulls were sold yesterday and they realized $30,620, or an average of $255.70 each.

With one exception these were all Shorthorns and Aberdeen Angus, and the average is a splendid one. The one bull was a Galloway and sold for $105. The prices paid were very high though the animals were all fine specimens. The highest price paid for short-horns went to "Safety First", a bull bred by P. Talbot & Son, of Lacombe, and purchased by W. Wilson, of Bowden. Olmstead, owned by James Sharp, of Lacombe, was sold to W. B. Campbell, of Durothy, for $380. The same breeder sold another animal "Orono" to the same buyer for $340. Both these animals were in excellent condition, and will be a fine addition to Mr. Campbell's herd.

The largest amount was paid for Shorthorns, there being 187, and sold for $41,205, or an average of $220.35. Herefords brought the highest average of the sale, there being 33 bulls, the average being $332, and the total $26,285.

Pioneer Mail Days in West

Some Handicaps That Had to be Endured by Very Early Settlers

In the pioneer days of the Northwest Territories what was known as the Saskatchewan Mail was dispatched from Winnipeg, once every three weeks, to all points west, outside the boundary of Manitoba, via Fort Pollock, Humboldt, Lake, Carlton, and then direct to Edmonton.

The carrying of the mail was left to contract, the service being made up of three weeks, and the trip from Winnipeg to Edmonton, and back, was to be accomplished in twenty-three days. This mail was carried in dog sledges, in summer and low sleighs in winter, down from two to four horses, according to the state of the roads. Log huts and stables were built at Fort Pollock, Humboldt, and other points as mail routes. These were known as mail stations, and usually a man ran a sort of "staging house" for what he could make out of it in addition to his pay for taking care of the relay of horses always kept at these stations.

Passengers and express were carried by the mail, the fare being set for a passenger and grub varying from $1.00 to $2.00. The mail was carried by others paid the regular rate of 50c per mile. The mail was carried by the stage of sleeping on the floor in their own bedding. As weight was an important consideration, the size of baggage was limited, consequently the mail carrier was obliged to provide a Christmas cheer for the boys "back" when several were sent forward the essentials. One mail carrier, the plum pudding, was sent forward the essentials. One mail carrier, the plum pudding, was sent forward the essentials. One mail carrier, the plum pudding, was sent forward the essentials.

Occasionally when the roads were bad, owing to deep snow or high water in the creeks—there were few roads in those days—mail carriers would lose time and consequently a trip. This was especially true when they had recently in England, was a mail carrier at that time, and then the seat of government of the Northwest Territories.

Mail day, with its tidings of good or bad news, its official news and papers from the outside world, was a time of no less of a holiday and afforded the opportunity for a little news from the seat of government of the Northwest Territories.

Agricultural College Ideas

Practice Training in Many Branches

The training in an agricultural college should be essentially practical. To secure this, practical features must be included in the light of present conditions.

(a) The boy should acquire some knowledge of the principles of agriculture. This is essentially necessary if he is to become a teacher of agriculture. It is not sufficient for him to be a teacher of agriculture, but he must be able to deal with. Then, too, he will make a better school trustee than one who has no knowledge of the subject.

(b) The boy should have a practical training in veterinary science as part of his course in animal husbandry. This is particularly so because, as practice the nature and treatment of diseases in the stock. He should be able to handle many of the ailments among the animals on the school farm, or be able to help any farmer in a similar way.

GENERAL NEWS

At the request of the British authorities the Grand Trunk System has supplied a series of motion picture reels, which are being shown to the troops in France and Belgium during the brief periods of rest behind the line. Thousands of British troops are daily watching these pictures of Canadian scenery and Canadian industry.

Six moving picture reels are being projected and they show the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific, farming in the prairie provinces, packing the Ontario apple crop, sport in the Highlands of Ontario, maskinonge fishing at St. Anne de Bellevue, shooting the Lachine Rapids and scenic Niagara Falls. The pictures bring before the Empire's fighting men in a vivid manner the attractions and resources of Canada.

The Rev. F. I. Anderson, Chaplain of the Forces, British Headquarters, France, writing to the European Traffic Manager of the Grand Trunk in connection with these films, says, "I only wish you could see the faces of the crowds of men who turn up evening after evening to get an hour's enjoyment and change of thought and environment which enables them to go back to their job with redoubled zest."

A Word to the Slacker

Get off your benches and into the trenches
And fight for the land of your birth;
It's the chance of your life to get into the strife
And show what your manhood is worth.

Heed not the cry that your sweetheart will die
When she sees you go marching away;
She's far better dead than to hang low her head
Like the women of Belgium today.

Every man that's worth while will enlist with a smile,
Though he knows what it means all too well;
It's not for the faine, but to help win the game
Against Kaiser and Kultur and Hell.

What's a few cheers and what's a few tears?
Put self far behind you tonight;
Away with the smarting, the heartache at parting,
And think of your country and fight.

—Tolled Standard.

Sailing is among the pleasant pastimes. Several varieties of fish abound in its waters, ranging from one to twenty pounds each. Get your friends to build their summer home in Mirror next summer. Any information wanted on the subject will be gladly furnished by addressing the editor of the Mirror Journal.
